Britney Spears has been attending a ton of basketball games lately and the rumor is she is dating Luke Walton of the Los Angeles Lakers. Spears was photographed attending the Lakers vs. Phoenix Suns game on Easter Sunday afternoon at the Staple Center.

Luke Walton was drafted in the second round by the LA Lakers in 2003 and he is the son of basketball legend Bill Walton. Luke is a rising star on the field and will be in the free agent market in July. Britney is not alone, several teams including LA are interested in putting a bid in for Walton's services. He even has the same haircut as Justin Timberlake when he dated Spears.

Since signing the divorce settlement with Kevin Federline late last month, a post rehab Britney has been spotted at several Los Angeles Lakers games. One paparazzi was able to get a photograph of the Pop Princess wearing a #24 Kobe Bryant jersey. We doubt she is hooking up with Bryant and probably wore the shirt to throw people off the trail of Walton.

Meanwhile Kevin Federline was celebrating his divorce settlement over Easter Weekend in Las Vegas, where he was seen partying it up at JET Night Club and STACKS Steak House in the Mirage Hotel & Casino. Federline received a little over $1 million dollars in cash and the couple will split joint custody of Sean Preston and Jayden James.

A Federline rep confirmed the settlement saying, "The parties signed a global settlement on all issues of their marriage and the custody of the children."
