The Utah Utes, who have ran and passed their way to a top 20 ranking in the AP poll, will face their toughest test to date this Saturday when they take on Air Force in Colorado Springs, Colorado. Both teams sport a 3-0 record, however, the Utes are a -7.5 college football betting odds road favorite at online bookmaker SBGglobal.com.

Utah opened the season with a big road victory against Michigan in the Big House. Since then they have pummeled UNLV (42-21) and Utah State (58-10). The Utes, led by quarterback Brian Johnson , are averaging over 400 yards of offense per game as well as 41.7 points per game. Their defense has been sound too, giving up an average of 18 points per game through their first three contests.

Air Force has put up some nice numbers in the young season as well. While their offensive totals are not quite as gaudy as Utah's, they are still posting 31.7 points per game and an unbelievable 358 yards rushing per game . The Falcons defense has also held the opposition to just 12.7 points per game.

The Falcons will face a difficult task moving the ball against a tough Utah front. Through the first three games, the Utes have allowed an average of 64 yards rushing per game. It will be an interesting strength versus strength contest.

Utah vs Air Force Betting Odds Trend: The Under is 7-3 in Air Force's last 10 home games versus a Mountain West opponent.

SBGglobal.com's Utah vs Air Force Betting Odds:

Utah Utes -7.5 (-110)

Air Force Falcons +7.5 (-110)
