ABC television network promises the seventh season of Dancing With the Stars will have plenty of surprises and be the most demanding of its predecessors when the season premieres Monday night. Online sportsbook BetUS.com is onboard with the best opening round betting odds on each of the 13 dancing stars. Listed by BetUS oddsmakers, Beijing Olympics beach volleyball gold medalist Misty May-Treanor is the dancer with the best odds installed at +290 ($100 bet will win $290). Viewers may cast their votes for their favorite teams via phone on Monday and Tuesday night during and up to 30 minutes after the Dancing With the Stars performance shows. The celebrities entered in the competition come from a cross section of the entertainment and sports industries. This years list of competitors include daytime soap star Susan Lucci (+750 odds) and Lance Bass (+550) of the former singing group NSYNC. Viewers and online bettors will also get to cast their votes on former NFL lineman Warren Sapp (+900). For the first time ever, all thirteen teams must prepare two routines for the first week of competition, one of which they'll perform on Monday night. The judges will score the performances on Monday while the viewers cast their votes for their favorites. Only twelve will have the chance to showcase their second dance on Tuesday. There will be an elimination show on Wednesday.
