

Nebraska vs Kansas State Betting Odds

Contributed by Matt Foust
Saturday, 15 November 2008
Last Updated Friday, 14 November 2008

The Wildcats of Kansas State will host Big 12 North rival, the Nebraska Cornhuskers today at Bill Snyder Family Stadium. The game is set to kick off at 3:35pm ET and college football betting odds at BetUS.com have the Huskers listed as a -6.5 road favorite.

Not much has gone right for Kansas State this season and as a result, Head Coach Ron Prince will be coaching just two more games on the Manhattan sideline. The Wildcats are 4-6 this season and just 1-5 in conference play. They are also winless at home in Big 12 play and they are 0-3 against Big 12 North opponents.

Poor defensive play and frequent turnovers have been a major problem for Kansas State. The Cats are allowing 34.4 points per game and they cough the ball up an average of 2.3 times per contest.

Nebraska after getting off to a mediocre start, has rebounded to win three of their last four games. In recent weeks they have dropped Iowa State and Baylor and last weekend they took out the Jayhawks in Lincoln by a score of 45-35.

The Cornhuskers offense has been potent this season; they are posting 156.7 yards per game on the ground and 33.8 points per game. Quarterback Joe Ganz has also been solid, compiling a 154.3 passer rating while throwing 19 touchdowns to nine interceptions.

Nebraska vs Kansas State Betting Odds Trends: Kansas State is 0-5 straight up as a home underdog with a total over 54.5.

BetUS.com's Nebraska vs Kansas State Betting Odds:

Nebraska Cornhuskers -6.5 (-110)

Kansas State Wildcats +6.5 (-110)

Matt Foust is on fire in college football right, going 11-4 over the last month (9-3 on sides), netting his clients +590 units. On the year, he is 52-40 in college football plays and has his clients up +757 units. Expert CFB Handicapper Matt Foust has winning total lined up for this Saturday between Nebraska and Kansas State. Point-Spreads.com recommends purchasing Matt's College Football Weekly Picks package which offers bettors the most bang for your buck.