

PayNoRake.com offers Online Poker Affiliates Top Profits

Contributed by Ace Riley
Thursday, 13 November 2008
Last Updated Thursday, 13 November 2008

Point-Spreads.com wants to alert online poker affiliates to a great rakeback brand to promote in order to make top profits, PayNoRake.com.

Shaun O'Neil, the Director of Affiliate Marketing stated "We are looking forward to the industry's reaction. We know that players and affiliates will be happy as no other poker site in the industry is offering the rakeback levels and the earning potential that PayNoRake is offering."

For those not familiar with Rakeback, it is a refund to the players. Online poker players receive a percentage of the rake they pay to the online poker room. A normal rakeback offer is between 25 and 40 percent, but sometimes players can get an even better offer. If you receive 35% rakeback, and rake $1000 one month, you will get $350 back. The more you rake, the more you get back.

Now imagine how much volume you would do as a online poker affiliate if you were able to promote a brand that offers 100% rakeback!

"Since so many poker operators in the industry have mixed feelings about rakeback, we expect our competitors to be upset. Our objective is to change the game in a manner that the PokerStars and the Full Tilts of the world won't match and reward our players for playing at PayNoRake. We expect it will be months before any of our competitors even consider matching what we are offering players and affiliates. Not many sites are equipped to give up to 100% rakeback to players and pay it daily. This can save an average player $400 to $500 per month and a high-roller could easily pocket $30,000 to $40,000 in a year - on top of any winnings."

O'Neil is currently looking for the top producing online poker affiliates to market the new brand.

"Rakeback is an incredibly fast-growing part of the market that appeals to the most ardent players," stated O'Neil. "Serious players have done the math and recognize the value. These are the players that are regularly on blogs and affiliate sites looking for the best deals in the poker industry. The major affiliates understand the potential for their players and their business, and see it as a win-win situation. We offer the highest possible commission and we give players an enormous incentive to switch and to play very regularly. By offering the highest rakeback in the industry, we will beat the industry-average player retention."

The company was formed based on the acquisition of internationally established gaming operations including ActionPoker.com, TigerGaming.com, PokerlinCanada.com. It has a strong senior management team with extensive industry experience, a substantial customer database and it will continue to grow through consolidation, player cross-over, further strategic acquisitions and strengthened brand attributes including new high profile brands like MillionDollarPokerClub.com and now PayNoRake.com.

All Poker Brands are members of the Action Poker Network which also includes other 3rd party licensees. They are licensed and regulated under the rules of the Kahnawake Gaming Commission and are UIGEA compliant. The Company owns its own proprietary software and also operates several online casinos.

Shaun O'Neil concluded: "No wonder the competition is getting so upset; we're changing the rules of the game."

Online poker affiliates can get in touch with Shaun here.