

Miami Dolphins vs Buffalo Bills NFL Picks

Contributed by Matt Foust
Sunday, 07 December 2008
Last Updated Sunday, 07 December 2008

The red hot Miami Dolphins have ventured into some cold territory to square off against AFC East rival, the Buffalo Bills. The game is scheduled to get under way at 4:05pm ET at Ralph Wilson Stadium in Buffalo, NY. NFL Picks at Sportsbook.com have the critical contest listed as a pick.

Dolphins Breakdown: The Dolphins have fought their way to a 7-5 record through the first 12 games and they currently are tied with the Patriots for second place in the AFC East. Last Sunday Miami survived against the hapless Rams in St. Louis, winning by a score of 16-12. The road victory gave the Dolphins their fifth win in their last six games.

Bills Breakdown: Two weeks ago the Bills snapped a four game losing streak by beating the Chiefs in Kansas City. They did not stay on the winning track very long as the 49ers took them out at home 10-3 last weekend. Buffalo is 6-6 as a result and in last place in the AFC East. The Bills are allowing 18.6 points per game at home this season.

NFL Picks Betting Trend: The Dolphins are 3-7 straight up in their last 10 away games.

Sportsbook.com's Miami Dolphins vs Buffalo Bills NFL Picks:

Dolphins -110, Over 42 (-110)

Bills -110, Under 42 (-110)

Matt Foust is red hot in the NFL right now, going 5-2 last week and netting his clients +246.42 Units. He scored big with Top Play winners on the Chiefs and Vikings and he has a big total going off in the game between the Eagles and Giants. Get this pick for just $15.00 but Point-Spreads.com recommends purchasing Matt's NFL Weekly Picks package which includes his Top Play between the Patriots and Seahawks.