The 2009 NFL Mock Draft below was compiled by the football betting experts of Point-Spreads.com. Even though its basically a crap shoot to select a Quarterback in the first round, the Detroit Lions will still select Georgia Bulldogs QB Matthew Stafford with their first pick. The oddsmakers at Bodog.com had Stafford the overwhelming favorite to be selected as the first round 1st pick overall.

The move comes as no surprise to 2009 NFL Mock Draft Experts since Stafford and the Lions agreed to term earlier today. The deal includes a $41.7 million guarantee on a six year $78 million contract. Detroit has another first round selection with the 20th pick overall which was acquired in 2008 from the Dallas Cowboys. Bet on the 2009 NFL Draft with Bodog Live today, April 25th, 2009 at 4 PM EST.

"Matthew Stafford has long been hyped as an outstanding NFL prospect," stated Point-Spreads.com Football Expert Matt Foust when asked to comment on the 2009 NFL Mock Draft. "His arm has been the subject of big talk dating back to his high school days in Dallas, Texas. Stafford was said to be able to throw the ball 80 yards even then and he has proven over the last three seasons at Georgia that he has the ability to make every throw that an NFL quarterback needs to make."

With the 2nd pick in the 2009 NFL Draft, the St. Louis Rams will select OT Jason Smith out of Baylor. The Kansas City Chiefs will take Virginia's OT Eugene Monroe with their 3rd pick overall in the NFL Draft today. The Seattle Seahawks will select USC Trojans Quarterback Mark Sanchez with the third pick overall.

The 5th pick overall in the first round of the 2009 NFL Draft goes to Cleveland and the Browns will most likely take Wake Forest LB Aaron Curry. The Cincinnati Bengals are sitting on the 6th pick overall and are expected to take OT Andre Smith from Alabama. The 7th pick overall by the Oakland Raiders will be Texas Tech WR Michael Crabtree.

For the 8th pick overall in the 2009 NFL Draft, the Jacksonville Jaguars will select Missouri Tigers WR Jeremy Maclin. With the 9th pick overall in the NFL Draft, the Green Bay Packers will take DE Brian Orakpo of Texas. The 10th pick overall in the 2009 NFL Draft goes to San Francisco and Point-Spreads.com expects the 49ers to go with OT Michael Oher of Ole Miss.

The post-Super Bowl event you've been waiting for is finally here - the 2009 NFL Draft and Bodog.com is ready to deliver. Every first-day pick, all the first-day drama is available to be bet on while it is happening with Bodog Live.
