USC vs California College Football Odds, College Football Picks & College Football Predictions: Many pundits expected the Pac-10 race to come down to USC and California, and it still might, but at least one of the two squads will have two conference losses after they square off tomorrow night at 8:00pm ET. The Trojans will be in Berkeley to take on the Golden Bears at Memorial Stadium in a primetime battle on ABC. College Football Odds at Bodog.com have USC listed as a -4.5 against the spread favorite.

The Trojans bounced back from their stunning loss at Washington by pounding Washington State 27-6 at the Los Angeles Coliseum last Saturday. Quarterback Matt Barkley returned after sitting out the previous week with a shoulder injury. Barkley led the Trojans to 403 yards after completing 13-of-22 passes for 247 and two touchdowns. He connected with wide receiver Damian Williams five times for 100 yards and a touchdown. Running backs Allen Bradford and Joe McKnight combined for 104 yards and a touchdown in 12 carries. The team finished with 156 rush yards (5.4 yards per carry).

Thirteen penalties for a total of 115 yards and two turnovers prevented the Trojans from doing more against the Cougars suspect defense.

USC's defense held Wazzu to a total of 229 yards and held them scoreless for 59:38 seconds. Washington State scored their first points on a two yard run with just 00:22 left in regulation.

California forgot they were playing last weekend and Oregon took advantage of the mental lapse by drubbing the Golden Bears 42-3 at Autzen Stadium in Eugene. The lopsided win was no fluke as the Ducks racked up 524 yards and 26 first downs. Oregon quarterback Jeremiah Masoli threw for 253 yards and three touchdowns while Chip Kelly's rushing attack produced 236 yards. The Bears could do nothing to counter the Ducks onslaught, amassing just 207 yards and three third down conversions.

Quarterback Kevin Riley completed just 12-of-31 passes for 123 yards while Heisman candidate Jahvid Best had a paltry 55 yards in 16 carries.

Cal had won their first three game by an average of 35 points per contest, but clearly looked past a game Ducks squad.

College Football Odds Betting Trend: The Trojans are 4-2 against the spread and straight up in their last six games as a road favorite against Cal. The Bears are 1-5 straight up in their last six games as a home dog with a spread between 4 and 7.5.
