

Bowling Green at Buffalo College Football Picks

Contributed by Reno Gold
Tuesday, 03 November 2009
Last Updated Tuesday, 03 November 2009

Bowling Green at Buffalo College Football Picks: At the time Tuesday night's MAC showdown between Bowling Green and Buffalo was scheduled, the schools were pre season favorites in the Mid-America Conference's Eastern Division. As the college football season rolls into Week 10, this game between Buffalo and Bowling Green doesn't look so hot with each team sporting losing 3-5 overall records and stuck near the bottom of the MAC standings. So on a night when the - seldom seen MAC - gets to showcase itself, the viewing audience gets a real dog of a game.

Regardless of how unattractive Tuesday's ESPN2 college football matchup really is; at least gamblers have a game to bet on. Otherwise there wouldn't be much reason to watch.

College football picks oddsmakers at online super-sportsbook Bodog.com lists the Bulls as 3 1/2-chalk favorites with a 57 total. Falcon's backers are getting +140 SU odds on the moneyline while the moneyline price on a Buffalo SU wager is - 160.

The Bulls (1-3 MAC) are coming off a heart-breaking 34-31 overtime loss to the Western Michigan Broncos. Ike Nduka finished with 172 yards rushing for Buffalo in the Week 8 loss. The Bulls covered the 5.5-point spread, while the final score played OVER the day's posted total of 51.5.

The Bulls will be looking to get their season back on track against Bowling Green. The Bulls defense will have to play a flawless game if they want to slow down the Falcons offense.

The Falcons, (2-2 MAC) are led by third-year signal caller, Tyler Sheehan, who will be making his 34th consecutive start on Tuesday. Through his first 33 games as a Falcon, he has thrown for 8,743 yards (second-best in school history) and 58 touchdowns. Sheehan and the Falcons are first in the MAC and fourth nationally, averaging 341.4 yards per game through the air and are coming off a month of October, in which they averaged 403.0 passing yards a game. Sheehan's favorite target is Freddie Barnes who is the nation's leading receiver. Barnes has 99 catches for 1,054 yards and nine touchdowns on the season.

Sheehan was 35-for-55 passing for 341 yards with one touchdown and one interception for Bowling Green in a 24-10 loss to Central Michigan in Week 8. The Falcons did not cover the 10-point spread, while the final score played UNDER the day's posted total of 61.

College Football Picks: If you absolutely must bet on this game - and we know you do or you wouldn't have read this far - then bet the OVER 61. If you have to bet a side, then take the dog - Bowling Green +3 1/2.

Bet on sports at online sportsbook Bodog.com and receive a 10% Deposit Bonus and start winning today.