Navy vs Notre Dame College Football Predictions Picks: The Navy Midshipmen are in South Bend, Indiana this weekend to face the Notre Dame Fighting Irish. The annual clash is scheduled to get underway at 2:30pm ET at Notre Dame Stadium; it will be televised live on NBC. College Football Predictions Picks at SBGglobal.com have the Irish listed as a -11 against the spread favorite.

Navy had a five game win streak snapped last weekend, losing 24-27 at home to a surprising Temple team. Prior to the setback, the Middies had reeled off wins against Western Kentucky, Air Force, Rice, SMU, and Wake Forest, putting them in a position to go to a seventh consecutive bowl game. While it is unlikely that Navy will get by Notre Dame this Saturday (1-9 last in their last 10 meetings with the Irish), the Midshipmen close out the season with three winnable games, squaring off against Delaware, Hawaii, and Army.

Notre Dame won its sixth game of the season last weekend, pounding Washington State 40-14 in South Bend. The Irish, now 6-2, have won five of their last six games, but they still have some major work to do in order to reach the kind of bowl game they had in mind before the season kicked off. After the Middies, who will be anything but a push-over, Notre Dame travels to Pittsburgh to face the Panthers, hosts a tough Connecticut squad, and then hits the road again to battle the Stanford Cardinal in California.

The key for Charlie Weis' squad in this contest will be stopping Navy's option rushing attack, which averages 279.8 yards per game. The Midshipmen have the opposite problem as they will need to deal with the Jimmy Clausen led passing attack that generates 309.8 yards per contest.

College Football Predictions Picks Betting Trend: Notre Dame is 7-1 straight up but just 2-6 against the spread in their last eight games as a home favorite with a spread between 11 and 13.5.
